Learning can be fun

Romulus pre-schoolers jumped right back into the swing of things Monday following the Christmas holiday break and became quickly involved in learning techniques at the area Head Start program. More than 160 children are currently enrolled in the program. Clifford Johnson, 4, of Romulus, actually marked his first day in the program by engaging in supervised play with various tools, in Pam Holeman's class. Report due Monday Math scores stun administrators

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Despite advanced warnings from state educational leaders to expect lower student test results this year, Romulus school administrators expressed "shock and concern" regarding the poor showing by Romulus students in the recent Michigan Educational Assessment Program tests.

School administrators and principals met at 10 a.m. Tuesday to analyze the meaning of the scores in math and reading and to develop a major statement for the meeting of the school board members scheduled for Monday evening.

Dr. Terrel M. LeCesne, assistant superintendent for administrative services, told The Romulus Roman prior to that meeting "we need to breakdown and analyze the great discrepancies in the listed test scores. That 3.9 (passage rate for 10th graders in math) stands out for everyone in a negative way."

"At this point we can't put our finger on the total problem. We know we have a transient problem, we know that the scope of the math tests were altered drastically this year and we know some other factors, but we need to put all those factors together and come up with a satisfactory answer," LeCesne said.

The assistant superintendent said he is sure that the

"We have been making steady progress lifting those bottom students to higher levels, but we still need to make greater successes on the higher levels."

- Dr. Terrel M. LeCesne

board members want some quick and qualified answers to these scores, and "we don't want to be making excuses."

The student transient problem (listed as high as 30 percent by Superintendent of Schools Dr. William Bedell) has been tied to the ups and downs of the auto industry.

"What the chart doesn't show," LeCesne said, "is the number of students on the bottom of the score lists. We have been making steady progress lifting those bottom students to higher levels, but we still need to make greater successes on the higher levels."

Dan Murray, Merriman Elementary School principal and one of the local coordinators of the testing program in Romulus, said he was disappointed in the reading scores "since we felt we have good teachers in this field and were making great progress."

Reading scores in Romulus were 19.1 (4th grade), 16.4 (7th grade) and 17.8 (10th grade). The scores were well below those of Dearborn and Livonia (scoring in the 30 and 40 level) and even trailed several class levels in Taylor and Van Buren (scoring in the mid-20 level).

"We were part of the pilot program in math last year, so we knew what was coming up," Murray said, "and we need to do some major changes in our teaching program down to even the kindergarten level, to get our students on comparable levels with other areas."

"Teaching styles have changed dramatically in past years (and decades). We have to put less stress on memorization (of multiplication tables and other math areas) and more into equipping students on how to calculate answers with modern tools such as calculators and other in school equipment," Murray said.

Romulus students scored fairly well in the science areas, 43.9 (5th grade), 29.1 (8th grade) and 18.6 (11th grade), displaying the same trends of other school districts "the higher the grade the lower the scores," LeCesne said.

The MEAP scores were not meant to be a barometer for student skills, LeCesne said, "but the media has made it so. On the other hand, what other measure can parents or other elements of society score their children's academic success?"

'Homeless' man accused of stealing, goes to jail a 2nd time

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

A 34-year-old Inkster man, who claims he is homeless, was arrested on Dec. 31 for stealing 30 cartons of cigarettes from a Romulus service station. Seven days later he was rearrested on a related charge.

Michael Myles was booked for first degree retail fraud and detained in the Wayne County Jail in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Romulus police claim that Myles entered a service station in the 7000 block of Merriman Road and fled out the door minutes later carrying a large box filled with 30 cartons of cigarettes.

Two male employees ran after Myles and police said. When it appeared he could not escape, Myles dropped the stolen cigarettes and picked up a broken mail box post and began swinging it at the men.

The pair quickly subdued Myles, who claimed he was "homeless" and "needed the money to exist," according to police accounts of the incident.

This Monday, police charge, Myles walked into another service station at Eureka and Middlebelt about 4 a.m., picked up seven cartons of cigarettes and asked "What do I owe you?"

After waiting for the attendant to total up the amount, Myles calmly picked up the cigarettes and walked out without paying. He turned his head back to the counter, as he left and shouted "now you can call the police," according to police accounts of the incident.

The attendant obtained a description of the car Myles climbed into and phoned police.

A short time later, Romulus police arrested Myles and the driver of the car, Jimmy Brown, 48, of Westland, and charged them with larceny from a person.

The pair were arraigned before Judge Henry Zaborowski and remanded to the Wayne County Jail in lieu of $5,000 cash bond each. A court hearing has been scheduled for Jan. 16.

McAnally redefines industrial roles in 1992

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

With 1992 opening with little fizz in its economic champagne, Romulus political and business leaders warn "there will be little business as usual" features evident to the public at least in the first quarter of this year.

Two confidence levels also are being debated throughout the community as the new calendars appear on the walls of family homes and business desks across the area.

Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally declared bluntly it's time for area Michigan industrial communities to re-identify their roles in the world market.

"With the European Common Market getting its act together, we need to reassess our world market plan or we will have even bigger economic problems in the near future," the mayor said.

"Maybe we cannot compete in some labor areas around the world, because of a difference in labor costs. But why can't we use our superior technology skills to become the world's auto design capital or the design and assembly capital of the world?" she asked.

McAnally, who has been serving as chairperson of the western Wayne Mayors Conference, will assume a similar position Jan. 16 with the Downriver Community Conference of Mayors.

Both conferences include 17 mayors each from Michigan communities.

McAnally (aware many communities also have jobless and homeless issues to deal with this winter) said "I've warned before - desperate people will do desperate things in the current economy."

"And with Gov. John Engler

"And with Gov. John Engler passing many socio-economic problems on down to local governments--while and after our funding sources are being cut, we need to continue to speak out forcefully."

Beverly McAnally

passing many socio-economic problems on down to local governments--while and after our funding sources are being cut, we need to continue to speak out forcefully.

"We are not equipped to handle the joint problems caused by business layoffs and General Assistance cutoffs without a major influx of funding from somewhere," she warned.

"Despite GOP Presidential candidate Pat Buchanan's cry for retrenchment, I don't see America accepting an isolationist concept. We have to protect our rivers and other important natural and environmental resources--so that we can remain a major tourist area."

"And there is no reason, why we can't compete on the global trade market. In the past the adventuresome and daring persons flocked to the northern communities of the U.S. We need to help these potential leaders fulfill their dreams, particularly when we have a major airport and international border within our grasp," she declared.

Meanwhile David Littmann, senior vice president of economics at Manufacturers Bank, agreed that the public's confidence level is affected by two key factors--their money supply and a healthy job status.

Littmann cited rising federal taxes (up $600 in 1991 alone) for area families and an exorbitant capital gains tax as two major factors in the poor confidence level for Washington alone.

He decried President Bush's trip to the Orient--claiming it will "only distract Washington policymakers and the public from dealing with the major issues at hand."

Littmann stated "the U.S. has a number of trade barriers of its own that it needs to lower or abandon" to take advantage of the current "golden age of markets."

He hopes that the Bush trip to Australia does not threaten "ill feelings" abroad, when the U.S. needs to broaden its trade opportunities.

Mark Lewkowicz, president of Landis Machine Shop and first vice president of the Romulus Chamber of Commerce, explained that the "cautious economic market today is causing an uneven work flow" even in small businesses such as his.

"We are currently down 7 percent in sales during 1991, but the work flow is a major issue with many companies today that stress quality assurance."

He also charged that high taxes are "eating into business leaders and families disposable incomes."

Lewkowicz said the U.S. "needs to begin doing a better job than Japan, not imitating them."

He also said "we need better financial responsibility at all levels of government today. We as a small business need a stronger economy too--because the trickle down effect is catching up with even us now."

Another Romulus Chamber of Commerce Director, Gary Sampson, said the question for the consumer remains "is my job going to be here tomorrow?"

High prices on big ticket items such as cars will have to be lowered until jobs become more secure.

As owner of the Adventure Travel Service, Sampson said he is already seeing a change in consumer purchasing.

"People are booking few trips far in advance, as in the past. Many are waiting until a short time before their trip and then asking us to handle the arrangements."

"We didn't see a major cutback during Christmas--because that dealt with many trips home to visit families. But in January, we will see many new incentives offered by airlines--such as second passenger flies free or at a major discount."

Blood donors sought

Red Cross officials are expecting the worst holiday blood shortage in years and are encouraging Wayne County residents to donate. "We haven't hit it yet, but I can tell you that by the beginning of next week we will have a serious situation," said Mark Cornillie, public relations director for the Red Cross of Michigan. Cornillie blames the shortfall on the number of factory closings and layoffs which have eliminated large blood drives in the past six months. "One of the largest areas we collect from is in the area of industry," Cornillie said Friday afternoon. "This year a lot of industries have downsized and there have been plant closings and people layed off." An outbreak of the flu has also caused the cancellation of many local blood drives, according to Cornillie. "It seems to be hitting the area pretty hard," he said. Officials at area hospitals and Red Cross officials are urging residents to set aside one hour within the next two weeks to donate to a local blood bank. Anyone interested in donating blood should call 1-800-582-4383 or 494- 2800 to make an appointment. Red Cross donation offices are located in Dearborn Heights and Canton Township.

Year 1991: Worries switched from war to jobs

The year of 1991 began with massive yellow ribbons deployed patriotically in front of many homes.

At the same time many residents were decked out with various "Desert Storm" T-shirts and sweatshirts.

But when the war reached a swift end and the forces were triumphantly feted upon their return, public attention turned to the domestic economy.

The weather-beaten yellow ribbons were taken down and local worries switched from the battle field to the work place.

Four Romulus men were among 11 persons arrested on a sex sting operation in Inkster. Policewomen were used as decoys during the sting, which was conducted near an adult movie house and video and book store.

A police search begins for a Roseville woman who disappeared from a Romulus hotel on Oct. 11 after a night out with a friend. The missing woman's (Cheryl Sanders) truck was found in the hotel parking lot, with doors unlocked.

while in the Junior High School cafeteria and died the following Sunday after lapsing into a coma.

A band of determined Romulus High School students picketed outside the school during a frigid December day to press school officials to toughen their drug and alcohol checks on school property.

Two Japanese business executives were killed in an accident, when their new car skidded on Merriman Road and crashed into a Wayne County sand truck.

The pair, Katsuichi Yamada and Ryuichi Sakumoto, were leaders of the NabCo USA Inc., located in Southfield.

Local band makes debut

Live snakes, gas flames and a condemned suburban building. Features of an Alfred Hitchcock or Martin Scorsese movie?

Almost. These and many other unusual images are all featured in a new music video produced by a local band that debuted last month on MTV, the national cable television channel featuring contemporary music videos.

Loudhouse, a band comprising four Detroit-area natives, made their MTV debut in November with a music video cut to a remade version of Deep Purple's 1970s hit, Smoke on the Water. The Loudhouse version of the song was performed in the 1991 summer movie release, Point Break, starring Patrick Swayze and Keanu Reeves.

The project was the first by Loudhouse under the Virgin Records label.

"The video was very well produced and the gimmicks were actually a switch from many of the videos you see these days," said colorist Tim Koen of Film Craft, a full-service teleproduction facility in Farmington Hills that produced the video. "The effects we added brought vitality and excitement to the video, without overpowering its unusual creative direction."

The band had a western Wayne County connection affiliated with the video. Pask Productions, a Canton Township-based production house, was assigned the responsibility of processing and editing the video, then transferring it to Film Craft for the final touches.

"All footage for the video was shot on 16 mm film by Pask Productions cameraman Patrick Pask," said Kellee Cragin of Pask Productions. "And Film Craft offered all the toys and tricks we needed at a reasonable price. They had good ideas and were willing to go a little out of bounds for this unusual project."

Special effects played a key role in creating the video, according to Film Craft editor Mike Doyle.

"Loudhouse knew exactly what type of image it wanted to project," said Doyle. "The musicians had a great deal of influence on the artistic direction of the video. In fact, lead singer Ken Mugwump co-directed the video, in cooperation with John Vitale and John

"Loudhouse's video is a collage of vignettes and images devised and performed by Mugwump, guitarist Mike Cross, bassist Tim Cross and drummer Vin E.," Doyle added. "The vignettes were staged on several sets built by the band," he said.

"In some scenes, I isolated certain colors, retaining them while changing the remaining colors to black and white," said Koen. "Other scenes were colored black and white, then tinged in shades of magenta or green. Throughout the video, colors were intensified or changed to create shocking images."

The original album release for Loudhouse, For Crying Out Loud, which features Smoke on the Water, is now available at music stores everywhere.

Woman finds career in Navy kitchen

When Rose Marie Talarico says she's serving in the Navy, she means it. Talarico is a mess management specialist onboard the submarine USS Hunley and has planned, prepared and served meals to her shipmates for almost all of her 17-year Navy career.

For Talarico, the daughter of Yuri Hasegawa of Westland, holidays usually don't involve packing the family in the car and traveling to Mom's for dinner. Talarico is someone who believes it is better to give than to receive. She's chosen to give through her commitment to the Navy.

Talarico has the responsibility of making each holiday meal she prepares, enjoyable and special for those who find themselves far away from their families during the most sentimental time of the year—the holiday seasons.

"I volunteered to prepare the Thanksgiving meal for the crew," Talarico said. "The ship puts a lot of time and effort into this season. It's important for the crew, especially for those who can't take leave and are working on the day most people take for granted as a non-working holiday."

"I actually had a pretty good deal by working Thanksgiving day," Talarico said. "My husband, Joe, cooked the meal at home for us and our three children. Plus, they came to see me on the ship and enjoy the meal I had prepared for our extended family of 1,100 sailors."

All the sailors who worked on Thanksgiving were able to bring their family or guests to enjoy the holiday meal with them on the ship. "Being in charge of a meal for sailors from so many backgrounds, we really have to instill a little bit of their homestyle in our meal. It's our way to accomodate everyone's unique family traditions."

For Christmas, Talarico and five other cooks continued what has been Hunley's tradition for almost 30 years of her active service in the fleet. The goal is to make Christmas day, a day of feasting in good old fashioned holiday tradition for an expected 300 crewmembers and their families.

"We had a meal of cornish hens and beef rib roast planned for those who are standing duty onboard the ship that day," Talarico said. Adding, that though the meal isn't really offering a traditional main course, they didn't want to duplicate the Thanksgiving meal.

What is as traditional as Mom, baseball and apple pie were the decorations that cover the entire mess decks (eating area). "We have all the usual cheery winter wonderland garb hanging to enhance the meal," she said. "Plus we had fruitcake, nuts, candy, Christmas cookies and eggnog for the crew to snack on all day—just like at home."

Making her shipmates feel at home comes as a sacrifice for Talarico. On Christmas day she didn't rise with her three children to watch them open their presents. She was up before the dawn and on the ship to begin her work day at 5 a.m.

"We were cooking and serving brunch from 7 to 11 a.m., and preparing the actual dinner to serve at 3 p.m. It was a busy day."

When she's not devoting her time to her extended family, Talarico enjoys time with her family. She and her husband live in Norfolk, VA. with their three children, Marie, Bambi and Brett.

Study reveals state waste problems

Elimination of ambiguities and inconsistencies on the part of the state Department of Natural Resources were major recommendations made by a new state commission.

The Michigan Commission on Intergovernmental Relations recommended that waste prevention should be established as a priority in the state.

"The level of dissatisfaction with DNR by officials of local government took many of the commissioners by surprise and clearly indicates a need for major reorganization and reordering of priorities," said John Amberger, chairman of the MCIR ad hoc subcommittee on the environment. "Waste prevention has got to be the major focus of state government policy in dealing not only with solid waste but with many of our other environmental problems."

Other recommendations made to Gov. John Engler and the legislature were:

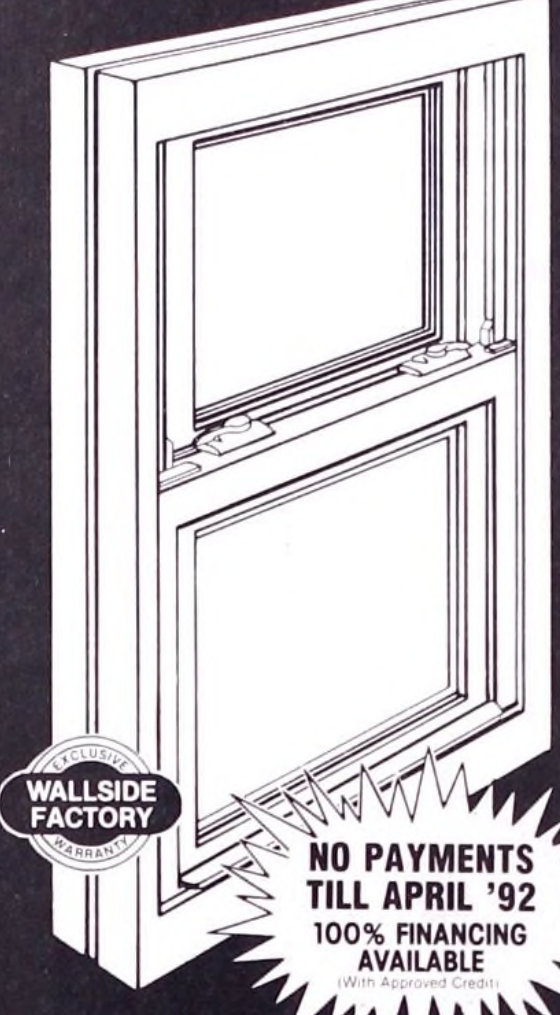

- Setting priorities that will require balancing environmental concerns and economic redevelopment.

- Speeding up administrative review and resolution of disputes.
- Adoption of a unified environmental code to permit streamlining and organization of operations and regulations.
- Reasonable and predictable regulations allowing an application for a permit to proceed under regulations in place at the time the permit was submitted.

Gold Collection will glitter at museum through Feb. 9

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

An exhibit of precious metals will brighten the galleries of the Detroit Institute of Arts for the next two months.

Golden treasures from Africa are on display at the museum, located at 5200 Woodward Ave., through Feb. 9, 1992. Gold jewelry and ornaments from Ghana, Mali, Senegal and Cote d'Ivoire (the Ivory Coast) are featured along with special films and programs about African art and culture.

The exhibit was organized by the Barbier-Mueller Museum and is being circulated under the auspices of the American Federation of Arts. Locally, it is being supported by OmniCare Health Plan, the state of Michigan, the city of Detroit and the Founders Society.

The jewelry and objects reflect the importance of gold in African history and art. As early as the eighth century, gold from West Africa was traded to the Middle East and Europe, and, in turn, created the economic basis for vast kingdoms, according to a museum spokesman.

Written descriptions by travelers to the kingdoms of Ghana, Mali and the Akan states along the coast tell of magnificent gold objects which adorned the rulers, their attendants and their courts. These areas continue to be the centers of gold working in Africa, according to museum art experts.

Many images on jewelry and ornaments represent well-known African proverbs which relate to the strength and wisdom of the leader, signify personal wealth and prestige or serve as a reminder of a truth or moral. For example, a bird looking backwards represents the proverb, "Pick it up if it falls behind you," or learn from your past experience. A coiled snake represents the proverb, "A snake bites when it is angered," which is a warning of potential enemies.

Although West African goldsmiths have practiced their art for more than a thousand years, most of the objects in the exhibit were made in the 19th and 20th centuries. Earlier works often were melted down and transformed into new ones in response to changing styles, according to museum sources.

The Gold of Africa exhibit includes:

- Gold jewelry of Senegal and Mali, which include hair ornaments, necklaces, bracelets and earrings which are indicators of a woman's wealth and social status. The jewelry is usually made of hammered gold which is decorated with engraved, cut-out or applied designs of filigree or granulation.

- Gold of Ghana, which includes some of the most spectacular use of gold in West Africa. Lavish gold objects, used for state occasions by royalty, include gold-decorated hats, gold-encrusted sandals plus swords and staff made of gold. Some of the objects are made of carved wood covered with gold leaf.
- Gold of Cote d'Ivoire includes cast-gold pendants and beads. Gold is believed to have a spiritual power associated with the ancestors and it is kept in sacred family treasures. Gold items are displayed or worn at funerals and special social occasions.

The special program include a 3 p.m. Jan. 5 tour, led by Linda Margolin, assistant curator of education, and a series of events on Jan. 12: a storytelling session at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. will feature African stories for children; a 22-minute Roy Sieber film, A Great Tree Has Fallen will be shown, and at 3 p.m. a panel of experts will discuss the history and importance of African gold, highlighting objects in the exhibition.

A series of special children's and family workshops will be announced by the Detroit Institute of Arts at a later date.

The museum is open Wednesday through Sunday, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. and is closed on Mondays, Tuesdays and holidays. A recommended admission fee is $4 for adults and $1 for children and students.

DO YOU KNOW...?

Travelers to Hungary holding a U.S. passport no longer require a visa for stays of up to 90 days. Accommodations are excellent and there are many deluxe hotels in Budapest as well as world class spas in and around the capital.

If you're planning a trip to the Caribbean and aren't staying at an all-inclusive resort, you might want to consider adding a meal plan. MAP gives you breakfast and dinner for a set amount which is usually considerably less than paying as you go.

A honeymoon is the most important trip you'll ever take and special packages are available to many places. If you aren't interested in the extra features (which are added to the cost), you might want to compare prices and let us help you make the decision based upon true value received.

Vans and station wagons are available at some car rental locations but are limited in number and should be reserved far in advance. Drop off charges usually apply for these vehicles and can add a significant amount to your total bill, so you might want to plan your itinerary with this in mind.

There's no additional charge for our service (except on rare occasions which are always spelled out in advance) and we can often save you money through our knowledge of special fares. We'll find the best values on all airlines, tours and cruises, so why not try us next time you travel and see for yourself?

Beauty and beast in All-Area Swim

Jennifer Snure, a dynamic swimmer who has versatile talents, represents Belleville High on the elite team. Snure broke into the varsity lineup as a freshman and won a Wolverine 'A' Conference gold medal in the 200-yard individual medley with a 2:26.43 effort. She also took a silver in the 100-yard breaststroke. The next three years Jennifer went on to rewrite the record books.

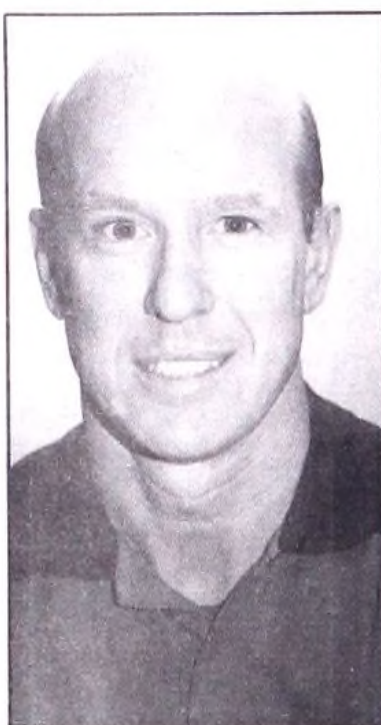

Canton's Wellman coach of the year

Plymouth Canton swim coach Hooker Wellman came within one victory of perfection in 1991.

His young and dedicated swimmers chalked up 10 victories in 11 starts, losing only to perennial Class A state powerhouse Ann Arbor Pioneer in an out-of-conference dual meet.

However, the Chiefs coasted through the division with a perfect record before finishing second to state-ranked Livonia Stevenson at the conference championships.

"It's been an enjoyable season," pointed out the gregarious Wellman, who has served as Canton head coach for the past 11 years. "This year's team possessed exceptional leadership."

Sonya McWhirter, a junior, is a multi-talented swimmer who is among the best 200-yard individual medley performers in the area. Sonya finished 14th in the Western Lakes Conference in the 200 IM (2:26.36) and was a 11th-place finisher in the 500-yard freestyle. Considered a team leader, McWhirter is looked upon as one of the keys to an outstanding Canton season a year from now.

Selena Bastine was a pleasant surprise as a junior swimmer. She played basketball the past two years, then decided to compete in swimming. She improved greatly and finished sixth in the 100-yard breaststroke (1:12.38), which qualified her to compete at the state meet. Selena was voted the most improved swimmer by her teammates.

Amy Austin, a speedy senior swimmer from Salem High, earned a spot as a state qualifier for three years on the 200-yard medley, 200-yard freestyle and 400-yard freestyle teams. Austin also was a state qualifier in the 100-yard breaststroke. Amy holds or shares varsity records in the 100-yard breaststroke and the 200-yard medley relay. She was voted to the All Conference team for three years, and was a tri-captain for the 1991 season. Austin not only swims well, but she studies well as proven by her 4.0 GPA.

Beth Yack, a senior who boasts a 3.56 GPA, is an exceptionally hard worker who has been a team member for four years. Yack finished sixth in the WLL meet for the 100-yard butterfly (1:05.11) and was a significant performer in the Canton relays. Beth did a fine job in her leadership role. She will be missed in the lineup next year, Coach Hooker Wellman predicted.

Alysia Sofios, a sensational sophomore from Salem High, has qualified for the regionals in each of her two years on the diving team. Alysia was also a qualifier for the state competition this year. Sofios earned fourth place honors this season in the Western Lakes Conference. Alysia didn't spend all her time in the water this season, however, as evidenced by her stellar 3.6 grade-point average.

Janet Roberts brought the curtains down on an outstanding prep swim career. She set two varsity records and this 3.66 GPA student finished fourth in the 100-yard backstroke (1:04.78) at league competition and was the 13th best in the 200-yard individual medley (2:25.27). Janet also swam on the 200-yard medley relay team and swim on the 400-yard freestyle relay that finished 11th at the state finals.

Pam Pritchard, a junior, "found herself swimming sprint freestyle and the backstroke", according to the Canton coach. This year she excelled in both events. Pam finished 10th in the 100-yard freestyle at the conference meet (57.60) and was also 10th in the 100-yard backstroke (1:06.98). Pam is considered a very strong team depth swimmer.

Katie McWhirter, did an exceptional job in her first year on the team. She finished seventh in the 200-yard freestyle in the Western Lakes championships (2:04.40) and was a fourth-place finisher in the 500-yard freestyle (5:28.20). Her strong swimming also helped Canton become a threat in the relays. Coach Hooker Wellman says Katie "can swim all the strokes well and has a great future with the team."

Kristin Stackpoole, a junior backstroke specialist from Salem, has qualified for the state tournament for three straight years in the 200-yard medley, 200-yard freestyle, 400-yard freestyle relays and the 100-yard backstroke. Kristin is part of the unit that set the Salem varsity record in the 200-yard medley, and was voted to the All Conference team for three years straight. Stackpoole was selected captain for the 1992 team, and currently carries a 3.5 GPA.

Amy Kodrik, one of those rare scholar-athletes, contributed to the success of the Canton team with her outstanding diving ability. She retained the conference diving crown in record fashion when she amassed 403.70 points for 11 dives. Amy also had a six dive high score of 248.20 points. An outstanding talent, Coach Hooker Wellman stressed that Kodrik "has been wonderful to work with." Amy has two varsity records that will be difficult to top, and she also has a 3.56 GPA.

Jane Seidelman, a senior freestyle specialist from Salem High, was a state qualifier for three years in both the 200-yard freestyle and 400-yard freestyle relays. Seidelman specialized in the 500 freestyle event, placing fifth in the Western Lakes Conference. Jane earned a place on the all conference team for two years, and was recognized as the most improved swimmer on the Rock swim team in 1990 and 1991. Seidelman also excels in the classroom, carrying a commendable 3.6 GPA.

Salem finds itself in the middle of the cage road

By KEVIN LITWIN
ANP Staff Writer

Before this season began, Salem basketball coach Bob Brodie said that his team would win a lot of games if they could hold opponents to under 60 points a game.

After three regular season games, his Rocks have allowed 53, 26 and 55 points while compiling a 2-1 record.

So is Coach Brodie pleased with the Rocks' start?

"No, I'm not pleased," said Brodie. "We're just a middle-of-the-road team right now. We have to solidify our offense and defense. We've got to be more patient when we have the basketball."

Salem won their season opener Dec. 10 against Monroe, 63-53, then drubbed a weak Trenton team, 59-26. The Rocks lost their most recent game against Ann Arbor Huron, 55-40.

"The Trenton game actually hurt us a little bit because we started shooting three-pointers, and we were making them," Brodie said. "The guys thought they could continue that against Ann Arbor Huron, but they didn't. We're not that kind of team."

The "Big 3" for Salem--senior center Mike Abraham, sophomore forward James Head and senior guard Eric Stemmer--have drawn mixed reviews from Brodie to this point in the season.

Mediocre start for Canton cagers

By KEVIN LITWIN
ANP Staff Writer

After four regular-season basketball games, the Canton Chiefs are 2-2. Is Coach Dave Van Wagoner pleased with his basketball team to this point?

"I'm disappointed that we're 2-2 right now," said Van Wagoner. "But I'm really positive about our team after our recent loss to Ann Arbor Pioneer."

The highly-touted Pioneer team squeaked by Canton, 59-57, at the Pioneer gym Dec. 19.

Previous to that game, Canton lost their opener at Wayne, 71-58, won their second game at home against Monroe, 68-50, and defeated a well-respected Dearborn quintet, 44-42.

"One of our major problems to this point in the season has been shot selection," Van Wagoner said. "The guys have been looking at their own points and stats rather than Canton High

"Abraham has been, without a doubt, our steadiest performer," Brodie said. "Head has been playing in spurts. Sometimes he plays great, but other times he just looks like every other sophomore out there."

"As far as Stemmer is concerned, he hasn't been too effective," Brodie added. "He's scored seven and four points in the two games he's played."

On a 1-10 scale with 10 being the highest, Brodie rated his team on offense, defense, rebounding and overall performance through the first three games. His ratings were rather respectable, except for one category.

"I'd rate us a seven on defense, a six on rebounding and a five overall," Brodie said. "But I'd give us a two on offense. Right now, we're bringing the ball down court and shooting too fast. We aren't setting up our inside game. We're just not playing consistent basketball."

The Rocks play their next game against powerful Ypsilanti at Ypsilanti on Jan. 3 before returning home Jan. 7 to battle Waterford Kettering. They open their conference schedule at home Jan. 10 against Livonia Franklin.

"Ypsilanti will be really tough to beat," Brodie said. "But no matter what happens in the next two games, I want our team to be ready for the conference season. And we will be."

points and Canton High stats. But I ran them hard in a scrimmage (Dec. 28) and had them running extra sprints. I think there'll be a change now."

Although Van Wagoner didn't have too many good things to say about the Chiefs' less-than-formidable start, he has noticed a couple of positive aspects.

Van Wagoner was asked to rate his team on a scale of 1-10 (with 10 being the highest) on offense, defense, rebounding and overall play.

"I'd give us a three on offense and a three on defense," Van Wagoner said. "We've got to get better defensively. In fact, I've practiced the guys hard every day over the Christmas break, and I'd say we've concentrated about 80 percent of the practice times to defense."

"As far as rebounding, I'd give us a five, and an overall score for our team so far would be about a four."

Ex-Glenn cager stars for Siena

Andy Grazulis, a former All-Area cager from Westland John Glenn, has been named a co-captain for Siena College.

The 6-6, 220-pound senior who hails from Westland has emerged as the motivational leader, on and off the court, according to head coach Mike Deane.

As a junior, Grazulis played in all 35 Siena College games. The highlight of his junior season came when he came off the bench and sparked his team top an 85-78 victory over Bowling Green.

With Siena trailing by 10, Grazulis came in and scored four points and stole the ball four times within a four minute span to give Siena a one-point lead that they never relinquished.

Andy graduated from Glenn in 1987. He averaged 18.0 points per game and 10 rebounds as a Rocket. He was picked All-Area twice as a prep.

April Billins served as the Canton team captain. Her senior year was the best of her four years of prep competition. The owner of three varsity records, April placed fifth at the conference championships for the 50-yard freestyle and qualified for the state finals. She finished sixth in the 100-yard freestyle and also qualified for state in that event. Billins swam on the 200-yard freestyle relay at state. The team finished 13th. She also swam on the 400-yard freestyle that placed 11th at state.

Jill Mellis is perfect (4.0) in the classroom, and that desire to be perfect in the pool is reflected by her hard work. She finished third in the 200-yard individual medley at the conference meet (2:16.51) and was second in the 100-yard butterfly (1:01.47). The 15-year-old sophomore has three records alongside her name. Jill qualified for the state finals in both the butterfly and the IM and swam faster at the finals. She also is a member of the 200 and 400 freestyle relay teams.

Candi Bosse, one of Plymouth-Salem tri-captains, was voted the Rocks' Most Valuable Swimmer for the 1991 season. A senior who has been named to the all-conference team for the past three years, Bosse's incredulous achievements include qualifying for the state finals the past four years. She has helped set varsity records for the 200-yard medley relay and the 200-yard free-style relay events. A scholar-athlete, Candi has compiled a perfect 4.1 grade point average.

Mandi Ras, a sophomore who has turned a 25.13 for the 50-yard freestyle, is another Salem state qualifier. She has made it to the state championship for the past two years, competing in both the 50 and the 100-yard freestyle and also appearing in the lineups of the 200-yard medley, 200-yard freestyle and the 400-yard freestyle relay teams. She has been an unanimous all-conference pick for the past three years.

Jeni Cooper, a senior captain, is one of the outstanding freestyle sprinters in the area. The holder of four Canton records, Jeni finished with a silver medal in the 100-yard freestyle (55.30) at the conference championship and placed third in the 50-yard freestyle (25.47). She qualified for the state finals in both events, swimming faster 55.21 and 25.46. Cooper was also a member of Susan Pritchard, a freshman who excels not only in the pool but also in the classroom — she has a 3.3 GPA — has already made her mark in the Western Lakes Conference where she finished eighth in the 200-yard freestyle (2:04.76) and seventh in the grueling 500-yard freestyle. Susan had a great first year and helped strength the lineup with individual swims. She also made the relay teams very strong, according to Canton coach Hooker Wellman.

All-Area Football coming up

The Associated Newspapers sports staff is busy compiling the All Area High School Football Team for the 1991 season. Eleven members from offense and 11 members from defense will make up the talent-laden team, selected by the ANP staff in cooperation with the area high school coaches.

Dearborn Heights Robichaud and Plymouth-Salem, both of whom made the Michigan playoffs, will have players representing their respective schools as well as the premier gridders from Plymouth-Canton, Westland John Glenn, Wayne Memorial, Belleville, Romulus and Inkster.

Also, the ANP staff will name the 1991 Coach of the Year in football.

Slow Drains?

You'll never have a slow running, or clogged drain again!

The secret? Clean drains don't run slow. The "slows", or periodic clogs, are signals that a thick layer of "gook" is choking your pipes. This gook coats the entire length of your pipe from sink to sewer, or septic.

Conventional drain openers cannot remove this build up. Even a small tunnel through the waste lets them flow through the pipe, leaving the gook behind!

Now, with just a few minutes each month, you can easily clean out your pipes like new... and KEEP them clean with Plumb Clean®. It clings, and penetrates deep into the gook. No other product has the Plumb Clean® formula. That is what allows it to liquefy even years of build up. Plumb Clean® will clean the entire length of your pipes. It will make your drains run like new, when used as directed. This penetrating action is so revolutionary, Plumb Clean® is money-back guaranteed! Don't be confused. Plumb Clean® is the brand with the guarantee right on the label.

Save Money. A 1 lb. jar of Plumb Clean® holds up to 41 drain treatments. It costs only about 35¢ per treatment.

Independent laboratory studies show Plumb Clean® more effectively breaks down organic waste than all other products tested. So, if your drains have the "slows", get safe, guaranteed Plumb Clean® today!

Financial resolutions for the new year

The time you spend now doing some financial housekeeping may provide you with some payback this year, as well as in the years to come.

Here are some items that should be included on any to do list for the new year, according to the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants.

Set Specific Financial Goals

Think about any unusual expenses you may incur or big-ticket items you need to purchase in the coming year. Start saving for such items now, not when it's time to pay the bill.

This is also the time of the year to set an annual savings goal, such as 10 percent of your salary.

Develop a budget

The first step in developing a smart savings plan is to put together a budget. Begin by totaling all your income—wages, salaries, dividends, interest and other regular income. Then list two types of expense: those which are fixed each month and those which may vary.

Once you know how you're spending your money, take a look at those variable expenses that can be reduced or eliminated.

Build an emergency fund

In these uncertain economic times, it's more important than ever before to establish an emergency fund. Stock away at least the equivalent of three months of living expenses. Put this money aside in accessible investment vehicles, such as bank money market accounts or mutual funds.

Review your health insurance

Be sure you know how your health insurance works. Review the deductibles and find out the maximum amount of coverage for certain procedures, such as surgery. If both you and your spouse work, coordinate the health care coverage each employer provides.

Check your homeowner's insurance

Review your homeowner's insurance to be sure the amount of coverage is appropriate in the current marketplace. Generally, you have adequate coverage if your home is insured for 80 percent of its full replacement cost—that is, the cost of labor and materials to rebuild your house, or any part of it.

Take stock of your possessions

It's important to take inventory of your personal possessions and to ensure that you have sufficient insurance coverage. Generally, under a homeowner's policy you are automatically insured for one-half of the basic coverage amount against loss or damage to your personal property. If your home is insured for $100,000 your personal property is automatically insured to $50,000 unless you request a higher amount.

But, don't automatically assume that this amount is correct; your insurance agent can fill you in on limits and exclusions.

Fold it, stuff it, it's still pizza

Since its quiet debut in America's first pizzeria nearly nine decades ago, pizza has risen from humble Italian pie to all-American favorite.

Originally found only in Italian-American neighborhoods, the popularity of pizza grew with the return of soldiers from Italy after World War II.

Today, the simple round pie has been transformed many times over, with toppings including everything from chicken to shrimp. The shape of pizza has gone through twists and turns as well.

The recipe for barbecued chicken calzones takes a cue from the Italian original. Calzone was first made in Naples where an easy-to-handle shape was favored for snacking.

This version combines the best of both worlds.

Here is how to make barbecued chicken calzones:

Start by gathering the following—1 tablespoon cornmeal, 2 tablespoons oil, 1 large garlic clove, minced, 1 teaspoon chili powder, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 4 boneless, skinless chicken breast halves, cut into thin strips, 3/4 cup barbecue sauce, 1 pkg. Pillsbury hot roll mix, 1/2 cup cornmeal, 1 1/3 cups hot water heated to 120 to 130 degrees, 2 tablespoons oil, 1/2 cup diced red onion, 1 1/2 teaspoon chopped cilantro, 1 1/2 cups grated provolone cheese.

Grease large cookie sheet; sprinkle with 1 tablespoon cornmeal. In large skillet over medium-high heat, heat 2 tablespoons oil, garlic, chili powder and pepper until hot.

Add chicken. Cook and stir until chicken is no longer pink and all liquid has been absorbed. Stir in barbecue sauce; set aside.

In large bowl, combine hot roll mix and 1/2 cup cornmeal with yeast from foil packet. Stir in hot water and oil until dough pulls away from sides of bowl. Turn out onto lightly floured surface. With greased or floured hands, shape dough into a ball. Knead dough for five minutes until smooth. Divide into six pieces.

For each calzone, roll one ball into a 6-inch circle. Place about 1/4 cup chicken mixture onto half of circle, spreading to within one inch of edge. Sprinkle with 1 tablespoon onion and 1/4 teaspoon cilantro. Top with 1/4 cup cheese.

Fold dough in half over filling; press edges together to seal. Flute edges. Place on cookie sheet. Repeat with remaining five pieces. Cut three slits on top of each calzone. Cover with plastic wrap and cloth towel. Let rise in warm place (80-to-85 degrees) for 15 minutes.

Heat over to 425 degrees. Uncover calzones. Brush each calzone lightly with additional oil; sprinkle with cornmeal. Bake at 425 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes or until golden brown. Serve warm.

Helpful tips are offered to protect your pet from cold winter

Michigan Humane Society officials are reminding pet owners that cold weather and pets don't mix.

Weather forecasters are predicting cold weather throughout the winter months which means extra care needs to be taken to protect all pets.

The indoor dog requires only a few precautions when traveling outdoors for short periods of time. If the indoor dog is a short-haired breed and goes for a walk, be sure to protect the animal from the cold with a coat or sweater. Always keep a towel on hand to dry the coat, including the dog's feet when entering the home. Slush and salt deposits from sidewalks and streets can cause paw and skin irritation.

Michigan Humane Society officials discourage pet owners from keeping dogs outdoors for long periods of time, especially during the winter months. If a dog is kept outdoors, they need special attention during the season.

Here are some common sense approaches to caring for the outdoor dog in winter:

- Be sure the dog's house is in good repair. Be sure to fix any leaks or gaps that might let moisture or wind enter.
- Elevate the dog house so that it is 4 to 6 inches from the ground. Any moisture that does enter the dog's house will be able to dry if the house is elevated.

- Place a flap over the door of the dog house to prevent drafts.
- Place the house so that it faces southeast and away from prevailing winds.
- Use clean straw as an insulating and bedding material. When straw becomes wet it loses its insulating properties, so be sure to change the straw frequently.

- Increase the intake of food to help maintain the animal's body temperature.
- Keep fresh food and water available for the animal at all times, and replace if either becomes frozen.

When the temperature or wind chill falls below 0 degrees, consider bringing the pet indoors into warm surroundings. A basement or a heated porch will help to maintain the animal's body temperature.

Do not house the outdoor dog in a warm portion of the house, because extremes in temperature can be harmful.

Pet owners just need to use a little common sense, according to Michigan Humane officials.

Resident has hit rock bottom financially, seeks advice about future

Dear Elizabeth:

My birth date is Oct. 31, 1967. I have just about hit rock bottom financially and am hoping you can tell me when I'll get back on my feet again. Thank you.

Desperate in Canton

Dear Desperate:

What a year! Not only have your finances been bad, but you feel like you have been misunderstood all year and your love life has been the pits. You are such a hard worker too. Fortunately, 1992 will be much better for you. After February, there will be a promotion or change in your work for the better. You will be very busy and finances will be better for you after July.

So will your love life. You had to go through a year like that to truly appreciate the good things that are coming for you this year!

Love, Elizabeth

Dear Elizabeth:

I read your column weekly.

My birth date is Feb. 8, 1924. I have been a widow for more than six years. There are times I get depressed. Every time I plan a good long trip it gets cancelled.

Will I ever take an enjoyable trip away from here or meet a new companion anytime soon? I would like to move out of Michigan soon for health's sake, but I don't see that happening, do you? Thanks for your help.

Love, J.E.

Dear J.E.:

I bet you are glad last year is over, it looks like it could have been pretty tense for you. However, I do see you taking a trip before the end of March.

Your chances of moving out of Michigan look better in three years. You will be doing a lot more traveling from June 1992 through December 1993. I see a companion coming in the next 12 to 15 months.

You are a compassionate soul. You are a loving person that wants to help everyone—a true blue Girl Scout. You are also very psychic and could also be quite telepathic (picking up on those at a distance). Over the next three months you could be having some psychic dreams—you're going to be told something in them. It's OK. You'll know what it is.

Love, Elizabeth

Dear Elizabeth:

I have been married for three years. My husband and I have not been getting along. I've thought about getting a divorce.

What do you see for us? We have three girls, one is not his, and she is in the middle of this. My birth date is Oct. 6, 1965 and his is Sept. 14, 1963.

Trying to stay together

Dear Trying:

Unfortunately, you and your husband have had problems since the first day you two met. Looking at the two of your charts together, if there hasn't been any physical abuse, you're lucky.

The little girl should not be in the middle of this. This is not her fault. The two of you are not being compatible is the problem. You start telling her right now that this is not her fault and she is not in the middle, before it starts to have lasting effects on her mentally.

Yes, I do see a divorce before the end of 1992. And yes, you will be married again within five years. In the meantime, get out of a bad situation.

Love, Elizabeth

If you would like to ask a question, send your letter including birth date and year to: "Ask Elizabeth," c/o The Psychic Connection, P.O. Box 851023, Westland, Mich. 48185. Elizabeth is available for private readings, group parties, banquets and benefits. Phone 422-4224 for further information.

When looking for a family physician, make sure to check credentials

Westland resident Dr. Stan Szczeciński provides a column in the Suburban Living section on a regular basis regarding health issues. Szczeciński is a board certified general practitioner with a certificate of competency in sports medicine. His office is situated at 8010 north Wayne Road in Westland.

So many times we are busy looking for a product or a service, and we spend many hours or days learning.

We look and learn about the product, its warranty, how efficient it is, and what do we do if it needs service.

When was the last time you did that for your doctor? We generally accept the fact that a physician, or if you are looking for a new physician.

Which medical school did your doctor graduate from? Was it a big name school or maybe a small private medical school? Is your doctor an M.D. (Allopath) or a D.O. (Osteopath). Is your physician trained in the United States or was he or she trained in a foreign country? (F.M.G.—Foreign Medical Graduate) Remember that a big name institution may have an excellent reputation for medical care, but their medical school training may lend itself to being more research oriented.

Find out if your doctor is Board Certified in his/her field of specialty (including general or family practice). What this means is that your doctor went on beyond his/her first year of post graduate training to learn more about a specific field of interest.

These residencies may take anywhere from three to seven years of post-graduate training. Once they finish this extra training, under other Board Certified physicians, they must then take a written and possibly a practical exam.

An example of a practical examination would be the actual observation of a surgery for technique and style.

Does your physician belong to any national, state, county or other local organizations? These credentials generally lead to closer scrutiny by a physician's peers. A member in good standing in his/her own medical community is a good sign for a physician.

Which hospitals is your doctor on staff? Does he/she work with big hospitals like St. Joseph's or the University of Michigan or does he/she work with community hospitals like Garden City Hospital?

Remember the smaller hospitals like Garden City or Annapolis are considered community hospitals. They are not meant to do open heart surgery. They take care of community problems like heart attacks, appendix attacks, delivering babies and other community health issues. Ask if your physician is affiliated with major medical institutions in case that major surgery is required.

What happens if you need your doctor at 3 a.m. on the weekend? Ask him/her about call schedules. Does he/she have an answering service? Who covers for the doctor in his/her absence for vacations ect.?

Some of the newer offices have answering machines that when you leave a message, the machine will automatically beep the doctor.

1992 NORTH AMERICAN
INTERNATIONAL AUTO SHOW

Simply the best

Automakers bring the finest to display

The 1992 North American International Auto Show officially opens to the public at 10 a.m. Jan. 11, and Detroit Auto Dealers Association (DADA) sources hope the show attracts even more than the 560,033 people it brought in last year.

The 1992 show will be staged at the Cobo Center in downtown Detroit from Jan. 11 through Jan. 19. Admission is $6 for adults, $3 for senior citizens and free for children 12-or-under accompanied by an adult (or $3 otherwise).

Times for the Saturday shows Jan. 11 and 18 and the Sunday show Jan. 12 are 10 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. The Jan. 19 show will run from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., and the Monday-Friday productions are from 2 p.m. to 10:30 p.m.

Concept cars, artistic displays and new models that will be showcased at the Detroit Auto Show this year are numerous.

INTRODUCTION

1 • 9 • 9 • 2

THE NORTH AMERICAN INTERNATIONAL AUTO SHOW

D E T R O I T

General Motors

- Visitors to the General Motors corporate display will experience "hands-on" driving at the GM Safety Technology Theater. Participants will experience a sensation of being behind the steering wheel of a car with what appears to be the largest windshield and instrument panel in the world.

Pontiac

- The Pontiac safety display will feature "Ernie", a life-like robot armed with a computer keyboard. Pontiac will also introduce the Salsa concept car.

Chevrolet

- Other introductions from GM and its divisions include the Sizigi, a Chevrolet concept Lumina APV and the Corvette Sting Ray III.

Ford

- The Ford Probe for 1993 will be introduced at the Auto Show. Early Ford Design Center concept drawings point to the "aero teardrop" design direction of the car. Other introductions from Ford include the Connects electric concept car, the VCC110 cutaway concept car, and the F-150 super Flareside.

Lincoln-Mercury

- The Lincoln-Mercury Division will introduce the Lincoln Marque X concept car.

Chrysler

- The presence at the auto show this year for Chrysler Corp. will be significant. Detroit will showcase the worldwide introduction of three mid-size sedans that will be offered in the 1993 model year: the Chrysler Concorde, Dodge Intrepid and Eagle Vision.

Dodge

- Dodge will also show the much-anticipated Viper RT/10, a 10-cylinder sports car that will be priced around $50,000. In addition, Dodge will introduce the 1993 Jeep Grand Cherokee four-door sport utility vehicle.

Bavarian Motor Works

- Detroit will see the worldwide introduction of the BMW 325i Coupe, a spin-off of the 325i sedan. The Detroit show will also be the site for the North American unveiling of the first "purpose built" electric car from BMW, the E1.

Mercedes-Benz

- Mercedes-Benz will unveil its 1993 600SEC, the first-ever worldwide introduction by Mercedes in the United States. The two-door coupe is powered by a 402-hp, 6.0 liter, V12 engine.

Toyota

- The Toyota AVX-IV concept vehicle will be the highlight of a display focusing on the automobile and environment. The Toyota exhibit will also feature the worldwide introduction of the 1992 Camry SE, a performance-oriented version of the new Camry four-door sedan.

Mitsubishi

- The worldwide introduction of the re-skinned 1992 Mitsubishi Eclipse will occur at the Detroit Auto Show. The 1992 Eclipse lineup will have a choice of three engines, two transmissions and either front or all-wheel drive. The Mitsubishi HSR-III concept car will also be seen for the first time in North America at the Detroit show.

Volkswagen

- For the first time in North America, Volkswagen will unveil its new Chico concept car. The Chico is small, lightweight, fuel efficient and seats two adults in the front and two children in the back.

Audi

- Audi will introduce the Avus Quattro concept car at the Detroit show. The car, named after the Avus race track in Berlin, is an all-aluminum, pewter-toned recyclable vehicle. Its frame weighs just 115 pounds, and the entire exterior weighs 220 pounds.

Nissan

- Detroit will host the North American introduction of the new Future Electric Vehicle (FEV) by Nissan. The car boasts a top speed of 81 mph and a cruising range of 100 miles at approximately 45 mph.

ASC

- ASC Incorporated will be making three worldwide introductions in Detroit, including the Cadillac Eldorado convertible, Chevrolet Lumina El Camino Z34, and Crown Victoria LSS. ASC is headquartered in Southgate, Michigan.

Honda

- Honda Motor Co. will unveil two concept cars, the EP-X and FS-X. The experimental vehicles explore new approaches to lightweight construction, high fuel economy and driving safety.

Rolls Royce

- The 1993 Rolls Royce Silver Spur II Touring Limousine and the Bentley Continental R will be seen for the first time in North America at the Detroit show.

Saab

- The 1992 Saab CD Turbo Griffin Edition will make its first North American appearance in Detroit. Only 400 Griffin Edition models will be produced for 1992, with free scheduled maintenance for the first three years or 40,000 miles.

Mazda

- Mazda has confirmed that the introduction of the 1993 MX-6 will occur at the Detroit show. The vehicle will be produced at the Mazda plant in Flat Rock.

Hyundai

- Hyundai will unveil the HCD-1, a two-seat sports car featuring a 2.0-liter DOHC 16-valve engine with variable timing.

Jaguar

- The Jaguar XJ220, a 200-mph supercar, will make its first North American appearance at the Detroit show. The vehicle will not be available for sale in the United States, but Jaguar officials wished to display the car in the Motor City.

Isuzu

- Isuzu will unveil its 1992 Trooper for the first time in North America. The Trooper comes completely rebuilt with a V6, aluminum-block engine and a choice of four-speed automatic or five-speed manual transmission.

Lotus

- The Lotus M200 concept car will be shown for the first time in North America at the Detroit Auto Show. The car features two twin cockpits, and a new high-downforce rear wing with deep front bib and spoiler for increased downforce and stability.

Alfa Romero

- The Alfa Romero Proteo concept car will make its North American introduction in Detroit. The two-seater performance sports car developed in 18 months is a cross between a coupe and convertible.

Design and Technik GmbH

- Design and Technik GmbH will make its worldwide introduction of the Acura Key Largo concept car. The car has a fully automatic convertible top design which features one-touch operation using only six hydraulic cylinders.
- The Automotive News World Congress will run concurrently with the North American International Auto Show. The Congress will meet from Jan. 12-15 at the Detroit Westin Hotel.
- Speakers will address the continuing challenge of business in the automotive industry of the 1990s. Industry leaders and analysts will discuss critical issues and respond to questions from the audience.
- For more information on the World Congress call Wendy Barhydt at (313) 764-5592.

Superior Buick adds GMC trucks to lineup

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Brisk Buick car sales in 1991 (during a national economic downturn) has encouraged Superior Buick of Dearborn to greatly enlarge its sales and display area and to add GMC trucks to the inventory line.

Rick Kellogg, Superior Buick general manager, said a new three-story addition that will create a facility totaling 54,000 square feet will be complete this spring.

When the construction (totaling nearly $1 million) is finished, Superior Buick will house all of its sales and display operations under one roof at its one acre site at 15101 Michigan Ave., Dearborn. Currently the company's used car

"During 1992, Superior Buick plans to sell at least 300 GMC truck models."

- Rick Kellogg

operations are located on Guley Road.

Having signed a new contract with GMC Trucks, Kellogg said, "we expect the first trucks to arrive almost immediately. During 1992, Superior Buick plans to sell at least 300 GMC truck models."

Buick attracted national attention in 1991 with its sales and market share increases. Since then it has completely redesigned the compact Skylarks and full-size LeSabres for 1992 and also is offering all-new Roadmaster sedans for those craving a contemporary package including a full-size, full-frame, rear-wheel-drive American sedan with a V-8 engine.

The dramatic new Skylarks offer a fuel-efficient base engine and the highest level of standard equipment ever offered in compact Buicks— including anti-lock brakes.

"Buick continues to emphasize that we are providers of premium American motorcars that are substantial, distinctive, powerful and mature," said Buick Motor Division

General Manager Edward H. Mertz.

"Now with the '92 Skylarks, we are placing new emphasis on our compact cars. They are certainly distinctive. We wanted cars with real personality—with a look people haven't seen before. These Skylarks are provocative cars—inside and out," Mertz concluded.

The Skylark exterior incorporates a vertical-bar grille (inspired by the 1939 Buick) along with a futuristic shape and accent lines.

Buick's LeSabres, already an industry sales leader among popularly priced full-size sedans, have been completely re-designed for 1992

Values and large selection await used car shoppers

Motorists who are looking for economical late-model cars can find a selection of '89, '90 and '91 vehicles at Suburban Pontiac-Cadillac-Honda in downtown Ypsilanti.

"We're easy to find at 15 East Michigan, in the heart of Ypsilanti," said John Canfield.

"This is a good time to purchase a used car. First, the cost is not as expensive as buying a new car, and, next, the used car will not depreciate as much," Canfield said. "This is a great time to buy a used car because the interest rates are at their lowest point since 1985. Banks also are willing to give credit, especially to those who make a down payment and are credit worthy."

Canfield said he finds that those who are prepared to make a $500 down payment on the car of their choice do not usually have a problem in financing the purchase.

"We find a lot of people want a reliable car in the $1,500 to $2,000 price range."

Fair deal is motto of business

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

With more than 450 used vehicles in stock, the salesmen at Varsity Ford believe they have just the right car to suit any buyer.

"We have used cars, trucks and vans ranging in price from $795 to $20,000," said Mike Stanford. "Buyers can obtain bank financing or in-house financing, and we also offer warranties on all vehicles. We also have a 'zero down' purchase for those whose credit qualifies."

Stanford said the recipe for success for the dealership has been "no high pressure and no brow beating."

"We give the customers a good, fair deal — something that we can live with and they can live with," Stanford said. "We get a lot of vehicles in trade and we want to keep them moving. To do that, we have to be willing to make deals."

Stanford said it is a good time for people to purchase a used car.

"People are able to negotiate a good buy. Because of the uncertainty of the times, it's easier to make deals now. Customers can look over our large selection, make a decision and drive home in a new vehicle without delay," Stanford said. "We've got a lot of autos that are taken in on new car trades, so we have fresh vehicles all the time. We have the top dealership in the area and we're number three in Michigan in car sales and first in truck sales."

The dealership is located at 3480 Jackson Road at Wagner, at exit 172 of Interstate-94, in Ann Arbor, and is open on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. until summer.

Varsity is a family business with brothers Lou and Hank Stanford owning the dealership and Dennis and Mike Stanford serving as managers.

and we have a good selection at those prices. We also have cars for less than $1,100," Canfield said. "When a customer buys a used car from a dealership, he can obtain the best financing and an extended warranty. Our customers can drive away in a fully inspected used car that is ready to give good service from the day it leaves the lot."

Canfield, who has been a car salesman for the past six years, believes the Suburban dealership has provided excellent service to its customers during its long history in the area.

The Suburban name originated in the post-World War II era, and has provided quality vehicles and service for more than 40 years. The current dealership has been in existence for three years.

"We're easy to find and easy to deal with," Canfield said.

"Just drive out to Ypsilanti, the Gateway to the West, and see us. We're sure we've got just the vehicle you're looking for at the right price and terms. This truly is the best time to buy."

Jack Demmer Ford promotes quality and variety of locally built vehicles

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

They're new and hot for 1992.

Jack Demmer Ford officials in Wayne are introducing new cars and light trucks for 1992 which are economical, stylish and comfortable.

Major changes to the Ford lineup include the all-new Taurus sedans and wagons, two new four-door Escort sedans, a new Crown Victoria Touring Sedan, a redesigned F-Series pickup line, a redesigned Bronco and an all-new full-sized Econoline van and Club Wagon, according to Bill Demmer, vice president and general manager of Jack Demmer Ford in Wayne.

"The Club Wagons are a factory conversion to match what was done on the outside to the inside," Demmer said. "The inside now provides the driver with a sturdy, more comfortable ride."

Which Ford vehicle offer the best deal to the customer?

"The 1992 Escort is by far the most economical car as well as the most efficient in the Ford lineup," Demmer said. "It's better designed which includes enhanced ride and handling features."

"It's really a great value for under $10,000."

Escort adds two new four-door sedans to its recently redesigned lineup for 1992. The four-door LX and LX-E provide five-passenger seating, spacious trunks and many standard comfort features.

supplemental-restraint system are just a few of many new features.

Many of the new models will be featured at the Auto Show Jan. 11 to Jan. 18 at Cobo Arena, however, the F-Series Truck may capture more than just a few glances from on-lookers.

"The F-Series Truck is built here in Wayne and has new sheet metal and a new look to it," Demmer said. "It appeals not only to the construction worker but also to people who own boats or who just love trucks."

Cost for the trucks start at $10,500.

The new Ford Touring Sedan provides a top-of-the-line performance model for the Crown Victoria lineup. It offers buyers the traditional size and comfort of a Crown Victoria with the performance of an overhead-cam, 210-horsepower V-8 and a handling suspension.

Although the recession has caused many consumers to tighten their money pouches, many auto dealers are hoping negotiation talks between President George Bush, the three chief executive officers from Ford, General Motors and Chrysler and Japan officials will open the doors to a more prosperous economy.

"I think the talks can only be a positive step," Demmer said. "But, I think we also have to start improving the economy here. People have to start supporting and buying more American cars."

The 1992 Ford Escort adds two new four-door sedans to the recently redesigned lineup for this year. The four-door LX and the LX-E provide five passenger seating, spacious trunks and many standard features. The LX-E is a performance model that has styled aluminum wheels, a sport suspension and a 127-horsepower, 1.8-liter, twin-cam engine. The F-Series Pickup Truck was named the best selling vehicle in North America for the past nine years. The new front features a slightly sloped hood, flush headlamps, a bumper that follows the contour of the hood and a grille that integrates these aerodynamic elements into a modern, "aero-tough" look.

Quality Network

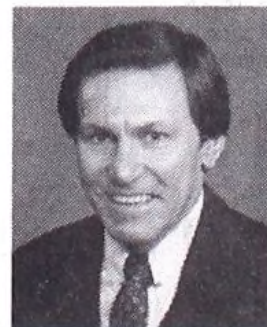

The Quality Network is people. General Motors people working together to conceive, design, build, and sell great cars and trucks. Cars and trucks that look better, are more fun to drive, and provide greater value to their owners.

Men and women representing GM assembly and powertrain plants in North America, as well as our technical center, will be on hand at the Auto Show to answer your questions and listen to what you have to say.

Straight talk straight from the factory floor will help you learn more about the quality cars and trucks these dedicated people are building for General Motors.

You'll find them at the Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Buick, Cadillac, and GMC Truck exhibits. Tell them what you like. Tell them what you don't. Tell them what you want. Maybe we should call it the Auto Show and Tell.

Dodge dealer predicts trade talks will add to success in '92

Like most businesses, the auto industry is cautiously optimistic about 1992.

Most analysts see an upturn in auto sales after the "Big 3" suffered record losses in 1991.

The optimism stems from the lowest interest rates in nearly two decades and auto rebates and incentives that dealers hope will lure prospective buyers into the showrooms.

"And, add to that a line of exciting products that I believe are second to none," pointed out Brian Leon, general manager of the Dearborn-based Sigmund Dodge dealership, "and that's why we're all optimistic about 1992."

Leon added that the auto industry "is as competitive as any other car manufacturer in the world."

"And I sincerely believe that 1992, we are going to see a turnabout in auto sales. There is a consensus it will happen this year."

Leon noted that President Bush and the representatives from the major auto companies are in Japan this week trying to iron out a trade agreement in which the Japanese will open up their market to American products.

"It's only fair that they do this," Leon added. "For 40 years now the Japanese have benefited from the American market, which has been open to them. It's time for them to open up their marketplaces to our products."

Leon said that the 1992 Dodge lineup is one of the exciting and most affordable products in years. He stressed that the Dodge Caravan remains the undisputed minivan leader, but buyers also will be tempted to look and purchase such vehicles as the Dodge Daytona, the Dodge Stealth, the Dodge Shadow, the Dynasty and the Monaco.

Here's what to look for in those cars this year:

"It's only fair that they do this. For 40 years now the Japanese have benefited from the American market, which has been open to them. It's time for them to open up their marketplaces to our products."

- Brian Leon

The Dodge Caravan, the number one minivan nameplate in the country since its 1983 introduction, and followed closely by its sister Plymouth Voyager in second place, continues to set new standards for innovative safety features and all-around versatility.

Redesigned inside and out a year ago, the 1992 Caravan is even more appealing with two important new safety-related features—a standard driver side air bag, and the first dual integrated child seats will be offered as an option, providing convenience and utility unsurpassed in the child seat industry.

Further enhancing the Caravan leadership are optional 4-wheel anti-lock brakes and all-wheel drive (AWD). Caravan with all-wheel drive offers buyers the all-weather capabilities of sport utility vehicles, with the comfort and room of a minivan. It becomes the ultimate on-the-road, all-weather vehicle.

The Dodge Daytona continues to stand out as a vehicle true to its mission—sporty performance at an affordable price. It's even more apparent in 1992 with technical advancements, new aerodynamic styling, and a high level of standard equipment.

The performance highlight for 1992 is the Daytona IROC R/T which will be introduced midyear. This high performance model will feature the 2.2-liter DOHC 16-valve sequential multi-point injection (SMPI) intercooled turbo engine coupled with high-performance 5-speed manual transaxle with high-capacity gear set.

Featuring a more contemporary design, all Dodge Daytona models, Base, ES and IROC, incorporate new front and rear fascias, newly designed aero-style headlamps (non-pop up), integrated park and turn lamps, taillights, CHMSL (center high-mounted stoplight), backup lights, wheels and wheel covers.

Dodge Stealth, launched in 1991 as the image and performance leader for Dodge, has quickly backed up its promises with sales performance.

Called the "Star of the 1991 Model Year" by Car and Driver magazine, the Dodge Stealth 2 + 2 sports coupe is an extraordinary example of advanced engineering, inside and out.

The ultimate model, Dodge Stealth R/T Turbo, has a standard 300 horsepower, 3.0-liter DOHC 24-valve MPI twin air-to-air intercooled turbo V-6 engine with five-speed manual overdrive transaxle, all-wheel-drive with center differential and viscous coupling, four-wheel hydraulic-assist steering that activates at speeds over 30 mph, 4-wheel anti-lock brakes, driver-side air bag and 3-point belts for all occupants.

The 1992 Dodge Spirit is a versatile mid-size sedan, available in four models - Base, Spirit LE, Spirit ES and Spirit R/T — that combines room, performance, advanced technology, and affordability, making it a high-value, natural choice for growing, active families.

The successful Dodge Shadow combines an impressive line of fun-to-drive models — two-doors, four-doors, and convertibles — each with an exceptional level of standard features.

Dodge Shadow "America" is a specially-equipped, fuel-efficient, entry-level version of the 2-door and 4-door liftbacks. The Shadow America models are the lowest-priced American cars equipped with a standard driver-side air bag.

The increasingly popular Dodge Dynasty mid-size family sedan combines roomy, comfortable seating for six — including more rear leg room than any of its key competitors — with traditional styling, contemporary technology and luxury standard equipment.

Dodge Monaco, a European-inspired 4-door sedan, combines responsive performance and aerodynamic design with outstanding interior room and comfort.

The front-wheel-drive Monaco is available in two models, LE and ES, both sporting a 3.0-liter MPI V-6 engine mated to a 4-speed automatic overdrive transaxle.

The Dodge Colt lineup for 1992 features two 3-door hatchback models, the Base Colt and Colt GL. While both are aerodynamically styled and offer affordable value, they are more than basic transportation.

Olds Achieva will add to compact car line

By KEVIN LITWIN
ANP Staff Writer

Oldsmobile adds a major new car line to its family of smart, contemporary vehicles in 1992 with the debut of Achieva.

Fresh from the ground up, Achieva is in the new compact entry car line. The Achieva is fully equipped with those virtues that distinguish all Oldsmobiles from scores of other products on the U.S. market:

- Refined design and function.
- Meaningful technology that contributes to outstanding quality, reliability, durability and customer satisfaction.
- A responsive personality that reacts quickly and precisely to driver command.
- A meticulous balance between well-rounded performance and outstanding value.

In advanced research efforts, the new Achieva name has hit the intended mark by communicating a compact, dependable, nimble and responsive automobile. According to company officials, Achieva will appeal strongly to all age groups.

The 1992 Oldsmobile Achieva is the latest entry into the compact car line up and is an effort to please demanding small-car buyers according to the manufacturer.

Achieva is a full-breadth offering with two bodystyles, three trim levels and four different engines. There is a sleek two-door coupe and a handsome four-door sedan, each available with S and SL equipment levels.

In addition, five-speed manual and three-speed automatic transmissions are both offered.

Meaningful technology such as standard anti-lock brakes, a shift interlock, child security rear door locks in the sedan and a self-aligning steering wheel to reduce the likelihood of injury in an accident are all standard equipment on Achieva.

Compact class customers are as demanding as they come, according to company officials. They place a strong emphasis on style, functionality and value. They expect durability, reliability and high quality as essential ingredients.

With the new line of Achieva, Oldsmobile is ready to offer compact buyers exactly what they expect, and a whole lot more.

Area dealers offer national test drive

Wayne area Ford dealers recently participated in a "National Test Drive" program that offers local car buyers an opportunity to road test one of the auto industry's most exciting arrays of all-new 1992-model products.

"Ford dealers are introducing more new cars and light trucks during the 1992-model year than during any similar period in recent history," Tim Boese said, Ford Division's Detroit regional sales manager.

Major changes to Ford's product lineup include all-new Taurus sedans and wagons, two new four-door Escort sedans, a new Crown Victoria Touring Sedan, a redesigned F-Series pickup line, a redesigned Bronco and an all-new full-sized Econoline van and Club Wagon.

"Wayne area Ford dealerships are joining Ford dealers nationwide in a one-month event designed to give new-car shoppers an opportunity to test drive the Ford products of their choice," Boese said. "Participating dealers also are prepared to offer customers low financing terms and cash-back incentives."

"There's no question about

"Now is definitely the time to shop for a new car or truck at a local Ford dealership."

- Tim Boese

the fact that we plan to put Wayne area customers in the driver's seat. Now is definitely the time to shop for a new car or truck at a local Ford dealership."

Undergoing its greatest change since introduction in December 1985, the Taurus has received a major redesign for 1992. A sleeker body design, a more user-friendly interior and an optional passenger-side supplemental-restraint system are just a few of many new features.

Escort adds two new four-door sedans to its recently redesigned lineup for 1992. The four-door LX and LX-E provide five-passenger seating, spacious trunks and many standard comfort features. The LX-E is a performance model that has styled aluminum wheels, performance tires, a sport suspension and a 127-horsepower, 1.8-liter, twin-cam engine.

The new Ford Touring Sedan provides a top-of-the-line performance model for the Crown Victoria lineup. It offers buyers the traditional size and comfort of a Crown Victoria with the performance of an overhead-cam, 210-horsepower V-8 and a handling suspension.

"Exterior styling changes give the full-sized F-Series pickup, Bronco utility vehicle and Econoline van and Club Wagon a more aerodynamic, more contemporary look and their interiors are more refined and car-like as well," Boese said. "We know that Wayne customers who stop by our dealerships will be particularly pleased to see Ford's commitment to safety."

"We have air-bags on more Ford models than ever before. Both Taurus and Crown Victoria come with a standard driver's air-bag in addition to an optional passenger's air-bag. And only Ford has standard driver's air-bags in both its compact and full-sized vans."

Crestwood Dodge sees bright future

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP Deputy Editor

Employees at Crestwood Dodge in Garden City are hoping the 1992 North American International Auto Show which begins Jan. 6 will be the start of a good year for car sales.

"The auto show will be the beginning of a good year," said Joe Himmelspace, general sales manager for Crestwood Dodge. "It's the time of year when people get excited about getting out and looking at all of the new cars."

For the past three years, car sales have continued to decline, according to Himmelspace. He believes sales will begin to increase once again this year.

"It's an election year which has got to be good for the economy," Himmelspace said.

Himmelspace was pleased with the higher-than-normal sales the company experienced in December. "The last part of December was great," Himmelspace said. "Chrysler announced a new program that helped to boost sales."

Since it was introduced in 1983, the Dodge Caravan continues to be the number one minivan in the country, according to Himmelspace.

"The Caravan is still our best seller," he said.

Caravan customers are repeat customers, according to Himmelspace. "We have customers who bought a Caravan in 1985, who come back to buy another," Himmelspace said. "They're good vehicles."

Last year the Caravan was redesigned inside and out, but Chrysler officials believe the

"The Caravan is still our best seller. We have customers who bought a Caravan in 1985, who come back to buy another. They're good vehicles."

- Joe Himmelspace

1992 Caravan will be even more appealing.

They have added two standard safety features to the Caravan—a driver's side air bag and dual integrated child seats.

Caravan is also available with four-wheel anti-lock brakes and all-wheel drive. Caravan with all-wheel drive offers buyers all-weather capabilities of sport utility vehicles, with the comfort and room of a minivan.

One of the most exciting additions to the Dodge line is the Viper. A new V-10 sports car which sells for between $60,000 and $100,000. The company will only produce 200 Vipers this year, according to Himmelspace.

Crestwood Dodge will have at least one of the Vipers available. Himmelspace believes the low number of Vipers produced this year will increase the value of the cars. He also predicts the Viper to sell out quickly.

Crestwood Dodge is located on Ford Road near Venoy Road in Garden City.

Charnock sees success in new Achieva and 88 models

By KEVIN LITWIN
ANP Staff Writer

Sid Charnock of Charnock Oldsmobile in Dearborn is excited about the line of Olds vehicles available to the public for 1992.

"Oldsmobile is introducing the new Achieva this year as well as the new Eighty Eight Royale LS," said Charnock. "I'm not making any sales projections for the year, but there seems to be more interest in the new models. Besides, with the stock market climbing, there seems to be new consumer optimism. We've always believed that there is a good, stable market for Oldsmobile here in southeast Michigan."

Charnock said he is looking forward to the Detroit Auto Show which runs from Jan. 11 through Jan. 19.

"There are always signs of things picking up after the Auto Show each year," Charnock said. "The Christmas holiday ends and people are beginning to look for new vehicles."

Company officials admit that the spotlight for 1992 is shining brightly on the two latest models for Oldsmobile - the Achieva compact entry and the Eighty Eight full-size sedan.

But the full line of carryover vehicles for Oldsmobile receives a host of engineering and styling enhancements to enhance quality.

The choice for mid-size family transportation is the Cutlass Ciera family of sedans and station wagons. The perennial formula for Cutlass Ciera success in the market combines quality, value and overall satisfaction, so little will change on the Cutlass Ciera for 1992.

For mid-size buyers who like to travel in sporty style, the Cutlass Supreme offers seven distinctive models, all of which benefit from significant styling changes and engineering enhancements. For 1992, Cutlass Supreme continues to be offered in three bodystyles: coupe, sedan and convertible.

To many families, the large, rear-wheel-drive, V8-powered station wagon is an absolute necessity. That is why Oldsmobile extensively redesigned and reengineered its full-size Custom Cruiser station wagon in the 1991 model year.

Most notably, a new 5.7 liter V8 engine is now optional. Combined with an optional trailer-towing package, Custom Cruiser can now safely tow 5,000 pounds with power to spare.

The Ninety Eight family of full-size luxury sedans is further broadened for 1992 with the addition of a new model and several enhancements aimed at greater customer satisfaction.

The Ninety Eight Regency, which joins the Regency Elite and the Touring Sedan, features a long list of standard equipment including a smooth and dependable 3800 V6, anti-lock brakes, a driver-side air-bag, automatic electronic air conditioning, cruise control and automatic load leveling rear suspension.

The stylish two-door image leader continues for 1992 with two models: the Toronado and more exclusive Toronado Trofeo. The 1992 model year brings a few changes.

An interlock device which prevents the transmission from being shifted from park to reverse or drive unless the brake pedal is first applied is now standard, and the parking brake as been redesigned to facilitate engagement in a single stroke.

When active families begin shopping for a minivan, the Oldsmobile Silhouette will stand head and shoulders above the crowd, according to company officials.

In 1991, Oldsmobile took aim at the upscale end of the growing sport utility market with the Bravada - a vehicle uniquely suited to the Oldsmobile mission of offering smart, contemporary vehicles a step ahead in design, value and total satisfaction.

The Oldsmobile Achieva is expected to please buyers this year.

Anthem to make debut

By KEVIN LITWIN
ANP Staff Writer

Two years ago, Oldsmobile set its course for the future.

The Vision of Oldsmobile mandated smart, contemporary vehicles that are a step ahead in design, value and total satisfaction; vehicles that are refined, responsive, innovative and balanced.

The Anthem concept car embodies all those qualities that will drive Oldsmobile through the 1990s and beyond or so hope Oldsmobile leaders.

"The new Anthem four-door sedan is considered a mid-size car - a Cutlass Supreme of the future if you will - which reflects our commitment to bringing the Oldsmobile Vision into every product line we sell," said Oldsmobile General Manager Mike Losh. "We view concept cars not as frivolous design exercises, but as a way of assuring that all the elements of our vision are captured in future models."

The basic architecture of the Anthem makes use of a long wheelbase, short overhang, and low cowl with primary design consideration being given to the spacious and functional passenger cabin.

"You can consider this car an advanced Cutlass Supreme, representative of design trends we'll see in the late 1990s and early 21st century", Losh said.

Despite the futuristic design of the Anthem, many of its meaningful technological innovations can be found on 1992 Oldsmobile models while others are being studied for use in future vehicles.

The Anthem brings life to the Oldsmobile of the future with its smart, contemporary styling and meaningful technological innovations.

Offering mid-size buyers outstanding value for their money has always been an Oldsmobile hallmark, and the Anthem will give those buyers a sneak preview at Oldsmobiles of the future.

The Anthem will be seen on display at the 1992 International Auto Show at Cobo Hall.

Don Massey Cadillac named number one in the world

By KEVIN LITWIN
ANP Staff Writer

Things are running smoothly at Don Massey Cadillac in Plymouth Township, so smoothly in fact that the dealership has just been named as the number one retail Cadillac dealer in the world for 1991.

"Things have been going really well for us here at the dealership," said Bill Collins, general sales manager at Don Massey Cadillac. "We were the top retail Cadillac dealer in the world for eight months in 1991, and we were ranked number one once the final statistics came out."

Collins said that the top sellers currently for the Cadillac line are the Touring Coupe Eldorado and the Seville. But he added that much attention has also been focused on the Seville STS model.

The Seville STS was named car of the year by Automobile magazine and has also been named Motor Trend magazine Domestic Car of the Year.

Five other GM 1992 models - the Cadillac Eldorado Touring Coupe, Oldsmobile Eighty Eight Royale LS, Pontiac Bonneville SSEi, and the Pontiac Grand Am GT - were in the running for the Motor Trend award.

The 1992 Seville STS was introduced to the public in August of 1991 with new exterior and interior styling, and a host of structural enhancements that provided new levels of comfort, handling and performance.

"We don't even get comparisons of the Seville STS with any other cars on the market," Collins said. "Our sales staff barely has to sell it. People interested in the car have already read up on the vehicle before they enter the showroom. The only problem we really have is finding the right color for the customers once they come into Massey."

In addition to the seven exterior colors offered on the Seville model, the Seville STS is available in three new exclusive colors - slate green, dark plum and gold diamond.

The STS interior colors include beechwood, light gray, black, neutral and taupe.

Although much of the pre-auto show media attention has been directed toward the Seville STS, the 1993 Allante is what the corporate executives wish to primarily showcase at the show. This is the first car powered by the long-awaited 4.5-liter V8 Northstar engine built at the Livonia plant.

The Allante, which is available in a convertible or convertible hardtop, is labeled as the flagship vehicle for the Cadillac Motor Car Division.

Allante has a top speed of 130 mph and is equipped with a state-of-the-art Bosch III ABS braking system. The exterior colors available for the Allante line are silver, light blue, champagne, black, red, burgundy and opaque white.

Interiors are available in charcoal, natural beige and maroon.

The Allante Assurance Plan offered by Cadillac is one of the most extensive in the world. Limited warranty coverage includes:

- Seven-year/100,000-mile coverage of all major and most other components.

- Private, toll-free telephone service for information and assistance to Allante owners.

- Seven-year/100,000-mile protection from corrosion penetration.

- Cadillac engineering consultation and on-site dealer service assistance.

- Rental vehicle expense covered during specified service procedures.

- Three vehicle inspections, oil changes and chassis lubrications.

Collins wanted to add his thanks to the community for supporting Don Massey Cadillac throughout the years.

"I just wanted to say thanks to those in the metropolitan Detroit area who have supported us here at Don Massey," Collins said. "I want to add that we will continue with our expert roadside service program that is available 24-hour a day, and we'll continue to do what we can to please our customers."

Don Massey Cadillac is located on Ann Arbor Road just west of I-275 in Plymouth Township. For dealership hours, phone 453-7500.

Dick Scott Dodge hopes to feature 1992 Viper

Dick Scott Dodge Sales Manager Bob Faust believes the higher-than-normal sales the company experienced in December are just the beginning of a good year for the auto dealership located in Plymouth.

"Sales have started to pick up a lot sooner than we expected," Faust said. "We saw more people in the last two weeks in December than in the last two months. Things are really starting to pick up."

Faust is hopeful the North American International Auto Show which begins Jan. 6 and will continue through Jan. 19 at Cobo Hall in downtown Detroit will help low sales.

Faust is also excited about the new Dodge Viper which will be featured at the auto show. The Viper is a V-10 six speed sports car which will cost between $60,000 and $100,000, according to Faust.

"We've already had offers of $100,000," Faust said. "If we could only get one in our building, we could easily sell it."

The company is only manufacturing 200 Vipers this year which will make the car more valuable, according to Faust.

Faust is confident his dealership will be able to get a Viper.

Other popular cars this year include the Dodge Caravan, the Dodge Dynasty and the Stealth.

The Caravan continues to be one of the most popular vehicles in the country, according to Faust. Since it was introduced in 1983 it has remained one of the best minivans available.

Last year the Caravan was redesigned inside and out. This year additional safety features were added. Those features are a driver's side air bag and dual child integrated seats.

The Dodge Stealth which was introduced last year is also a popular vehicle, according to Faust. The sports car is known as an "image leader" and was designed as a joint venture between Mitsubishi and Chrysler.

The Dodge Dynasty has also remained popular. The Dynasty is a mid-size family sedan that seats up to six passengers.

The car is available in base and LE models. Both are built on a 104.5-inch wheelbase, measure 192 inches overall and provide 16.5 cubic feet of luggage.

The base model is powered by a 2.5 liter EFI 4-cylinder with a 3-speed automatic transaxle.

Dynasty LE is powered by a 3.0-liter SMPI V-6 engine with a 4-speed automatic transaxle.

1992 NORTH AMERICAN
INTERNATIONAL AUTO SHOW

'Get to know Geo' will be theme

By KEVIN LITWIN
ANP Staff Writer

Owners of Geo vehicles will be extolling the virtues of the diverse, four-vehicle Geo lineup in advertising for 1992 models.

The advertising will build on Geo success in conquering import-committed new car intenders. In recent surveys, 48 percent of Geo buyers were previously committed to purchasing an import. Key targets within that group are first-time buyers, women and person under the age of 35.

"Get to Know Geo" is the ad theme again this year, showing Geo as a diverse vehicle lineup. Different traits will be emphasized to distinguish each of the four Geo members - Metro, Storm, Prizm and Tracker.

Metro

Fuel economy is the number one reason for purchasing a Metro, so television advertising will focus on fuel economy as well as the overall affordability of a Metro.

Storm

Sporty styling and performance at an affordable price are the main reasons buyers choose Storm. Advertising will center on the Storm GSi with its new 140-hp engine in a television spot call "Storm Features".

Prizm

Quality, reliability and price continue to be the primary purchase motivators of Prizm buyers. Owners will affirm those qualities and spotlight the interior roominess of Przisms in a television spot dubbed "Dependable".

Tracker

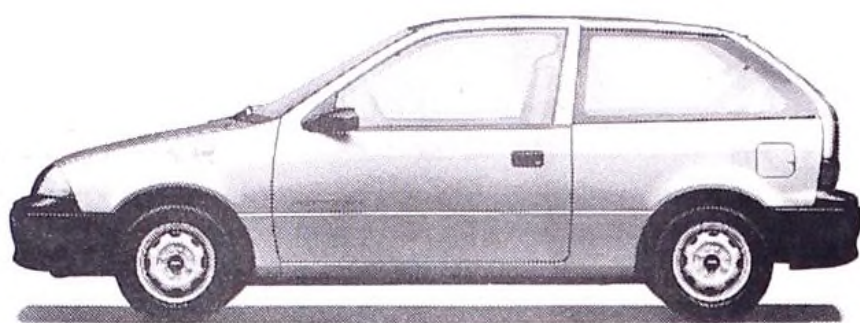

Versatility, affordability and fun - vehicle qualities important to Tracker owners - are highlighted in "The Fresh Air

Will Do You Good", part of a targeted print campaign featuring the two-wheel drive, convertible Tracker.

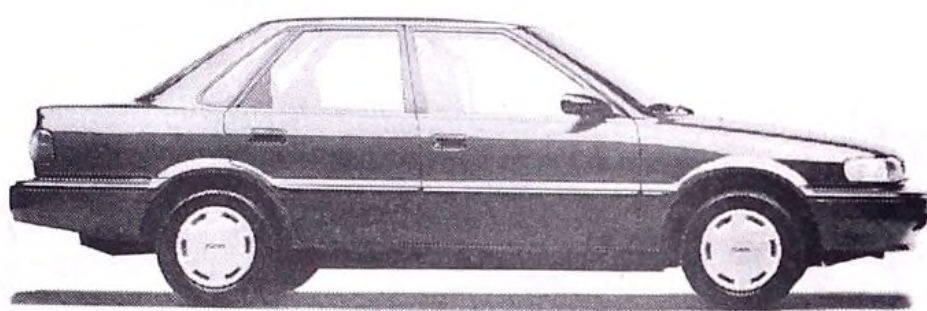

The Geo media plan includes advertising on television programs that reach a broad audience, but programs that are best-suited for the Geo audience. Programs such as NCAA football, the Grammy Music Awards, and youth-oriented cable programming such as MTV and Arts and Entertainment comedy, are some of the programs to which Geo officials will concentrate their advertising.

Magazines which best reach the 18-34 first-time buyer include lifestyle, youth, fashion, music and military publication. Geo advertising will be carried in publications such as People, New Woman, Skiing, Rolling Stone, Spin and Army/Navy Times.

Roadside Assistance Program available

By KEVIN LITWIN
ANP Staff Writer

Chevrolet and Geo customers can feel a little more secure when they travel now that a nationwide Roadside Assistance Program has gone into effect.

Chevy owners—even those having past model Chevrolet and Geo cars and light-duty trucks—can now call a toll-free number for roadside service assistance at any time of day, and on any day of the year.

The toll-free number is 1-800-222-1020.

"You don't have to buy a membership," said Jim Perkins, general manager of Chevrolet. "All you have to do is own a Chevy."

If a customer is having difficulty along the road, he or she can call the toll-free number and the operator will use a sophisticated data base to contact reputable towing companies and locksmiths in the immediate area. The operator can also assist motorists with airline travel, lodging reservations or alternate ground transportation.

Chevrolet officials hope that the implementation of the program will satisfy owners and generate repeat business.

Krug Chevrolet sees 1992 as a good sales year

By KEVIN LITWIN
ANP Staff Writer

The heartbeat continues into 1992 for the Chevrolet line of cars and trucks, and co-owner and vice president Mike Krug of Krug Chevrolet in Taylor sees positive things happening to the entire automotive industry this year.

"I'm optimistic about 1992," said Krug. "I see a bigger demand already appearing in the market. People have been pent-up by stories about the depressed economy, so now they are ready to buy, I think. And with interest rates dropping, I hope to see things improve this year."

"We think the new Suburban will be a good seller for us this year."

- Mike Krug

Krug said customers can currently lease Chevrolets with interest rates as low as 1.22 percent, depending on the model. He is also excited about some of the newly designed models for 1992.

"We think the new Suburban will be a good seller for us this year," Krug said. "And Chevrolet is going with a slightly restyled full-size Blazer in 1992. It was introduced to the public in Texas where it would naturally sell, and it has. People in Texas who like those sort of tough, boat-hauling, cattle-hauling vehicles refer to it as the cowboy's Cadillac."

The Chevy product line in 1992 ranges in price from the inexpensive Cavalier and EL Pickup to the racy Corvette ZR-1.

"Right now I couldn't pick out what model of Chevrolet is outselling another because they are all selling about equally across the board," Krug said. "Even the Geo line is selling equally across the

'Rock' is ad theme

By KEVIN LITWIN
ANP Staff Writer

For the first time in his career, Detroit rocker Bob Seger has allowed one of his hit songs to be used in television advertising.

Seger's current hit single, "Like a Rock," has been used to underscore the dependability and durability of Chevy trucks since the song was introduced to the public in October of 1991.

"Bob Seger has always been an advocate of American workers and American products, so the connection with 'Like a Rock' is a natural," said Jim Perkins, general manager of Chevrolet. "We applaud his decision to allow Chevrolet to borrow his song."

Seger's song appears in various commercials that depict Chevy trucks in hard-working everyday use, interspersed with scenes of American working men and women.

"Chevrolet is the flagship division of General Motors, one of the largest employers in American industry," Perkins said. "Chevrolet also is one of the largest suppliers of cars and trucks for working people."

In the summer of 1991, Seger was relaxing in a metropolitan Detroit bar, and was approached by a customer. According to news sources, the man asked Seger why the Detroit-based singer had never used any of his songs in support of Detroit-made products, even though Seger is always saying how proud he is of his Detroit heritage.

The brief talk with the bar patron caused Seger to throw his support behind Chevrolet truck advertising. According to new sources, Seger has tried to locate the man to thank him for his advice and insight, but hasn't been able to locate his "advisor" as yet.

board."

The Geo models, sold by many Chevrolet dealerships in metro Detroit, include the Metro, Storm, Prizm and Tracker.

Chevrolet customer satisfaction efforts get a big lift in '92 when the Roadside Assistance Program goes nationwide on all car, truck and Geo vehicle lines. The toll-free telephone number for assistance is 1-800-222-1020, and the program handles customer information and complaints in the hope that satisfied owners will lead to repeat business.

The 1992 model year also celebrates the 25th anniversary of the popular Chevrolet Camaro. To celebrate the 25th anniversary, an appearance package is offered on certain Camaros which includes emblems, bold hood and deck stripes, a body-color grille, black headlamp pockets and color-coordinated wheel treatment. The package is available in red, white or black exterior colors.

Chevrolet has also introduced a new no-deductible three-year, 36,000-mile warranty which covers all Chevrolet nameplates.

In addition, safety-priority measures continue to advance in Chevrolets in 1992. Chevrolet vehicles now have more models with anti-lock brakes (ABS) as standard equipment than any car company in the world.

AT THIS YEAR'S AUTO SHOW, SEE THE CARS AND TRUCKS DESIGNED TO STOP YOU IN YOUR TRACKS.

The all-new Chevy Suburban. Standard anti-lock brakes (ABS) and the most available towing,* passenger and cargo capacity in its class.†

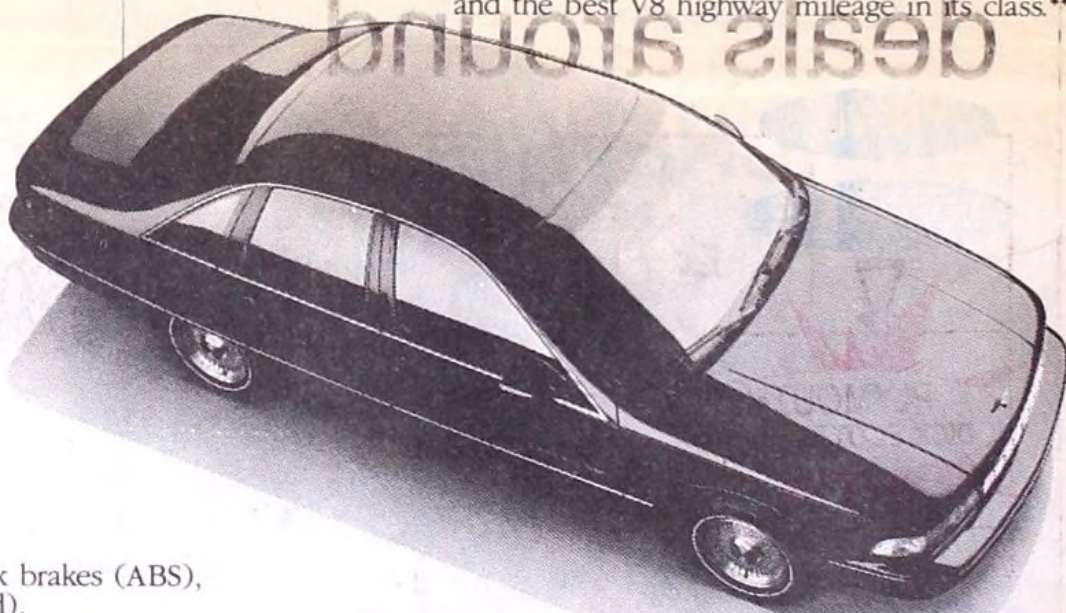

Chevy Lumina Z34. Standard four-wheel anti-lock brake system (ABS) and the power of a 210-horsepower, fuel-injected 24-valve V6.

Anti-lock brake systems (ABS) may be the most important safety feature to come along in a decade. ABS reduces the occurrence of wheel lockup during braking and is designed to help maintain steering control even in a panic stop in rain, on snow or on ice.

Caprice Classic. Standard four-wheel anti-lock brake system (ABS), six-passenger seating, and the best V8 highway mileage in its class.

The completely redesigned full-size Chevy Blazer. Standard anti-lock brakes (ABS), plus more people room and towing capacity* (when properly equipped).

*When properly equipped. Includes people, cargo, trailer and equipment. †Excludes other GM vehicles. EPA est. MPG city 17 hwy. 26. ‡See your Chevrolet dealer for terms of this limited warranty. Buckle up, America!

This year, Chevy equips more models with standard four-wheel anti-lock brakes (ABS) than any other company. We even make them standard on our least expensive Cavalier. But that's not all you'll want to see. Both Suburban and the full-size Blazer are completely new for '92. And the 1992

Corvette comes standard with a new 300-horsepower LT1 engine. Plus every 1992 Chevrolet has a full-coverage, no-deductible 3-year/36,000-mile

Bumper to Bumper Plus Warranty††. So stop by and see all the new 1992 Chevrolets. See, touch and feel why Chevrolets are the cars and trucks more people depend on.
